A screenshot of a software window titled 'Service Analysis Report Edit' with a sub-header 'New Service Analysis Report'. The form contains several input fields: 'Name', 'Description', 'Date From', 'Age From', 'Doctor' (dropdown), 'Location' (dropdown), 'Facility' (dropdown), 'Sort Order' (dropdown), 'System Date' (checkbox), 'Include Patient Notes' (checkbox), 'Include Other Notes' (checkbox), and 'Procedures with Insurance Balances Only' (checkbox). There are three main sections for data entry: 'Procedures', 'Financial', and 'POS'. Each section has a list box with a '+' icon and a 'From' to 'To' date range. A red arrow points to the 'POS' field. At the bottom, there are 'Insurance' and 'Diagnosis' sections, and an 'And' section with a 'Procedure' list box and a 'Not' checkbox. The bottom left has three icons: a plus, a green square, and a red X.

Route Slips

Offices who connect through Remote Desktop services and use Microsoft Word to prepare their route slips may now have more than one person preparing route slips at a time, if needed. Previously, only one person could prepare route slips at a time.
